

NVTA Fleet Fuel Program

By Dean Shreve, Partner Acquisition Manager, WEX, Inc.

NVTA has aligned an offer with EFS LLC to bring you a comprehensive fleet fuel card offering. The NVTA fleet card is not a credit or debit card but a robust fuel and products purchase instrument allowing you to consolidate and control all fuel, maintenance and other tractor or vehicle related expenditures in a secure, cash price or less, card platform. With additional real-time level 3 transaction data capture and robust reporting you are able to eliminate the manual task of keeping up with fuel and other business related receipts while having real-time insights for fleet managers or business owners. The importance of level 3 data is the ability to present all the data elements to the taxing authorities to paint your fuel tax picture in conjunction with your ELD or telematics program. This is a feature you can't match regardless of rewards points when paying more money at the pump to use a credit card.

Fleet fuel cards provide additional benefits and data far beyond the capability of credit or debit cards or cash by helping you create policies to control spend according to card limits, day or time limits, product purchase limits either globally or down to the individual card level. Only a fleet fuel card can offer you point of sale fuel discounts.

NVTA has procured strategic point of sale fuel discounts with major fuel suppliers to offer their members the buying power that NVTA members want. Membership can help you actively drive down your net cost of fueling through NVTA's merchant relationships and tools like the Card Control mobile app to direct you to the lowest priced locations on a route or in an area. Carrier Control mobile app allows you to manage and monitor your fleet activities on the go with nothing more than a smartphone.

Whether you are an owner operator, small or medium-sized fleet, the NVTA fleet fuel card is loaded with the technology it takes to lower fuel costs, track and account for all vehicle spend, lower vehicle maintenance costs, reduce time spent auditing fuel receipts, and lessen the load and risk on your fuel tax compliance needs.

Become an NVTA member today to enjoy these and many other benefits!
